

Steven Rusche SCD Bio

Steven Rusche discovered Scottish Country Dancing in college and has never looked back. After dancing for three years in the Atlanta Branch and three years in the New Haven Branch, he settled down in the Philadelphia area and has danced with the Delaware Valley Branch ever since. He received his preliminary teaching certificate at St. Andrew's Summer School in 1992 and his full certificate in the Delaware Valley in 1997. He has taught workshops in Georgia, Florida, and Pennsylvania, as well as regular classes at all levels from beginner to advanced, and currently leads the Delaware Valley demonstration team. He really enjoys the combination of the social and technical aspects of SCD that make it different than any other form of dancing.
